FOREWORD

As time goes on the old order changes for the new. We are told that on the very spots where now stand mills and factories, Indians once roamed. Gone are all the traces of wild life and yet there is one landmark which remains unchanged and from it we take the name of our annual—DINKY.

Senior Class History

IN 1927 the Freshmen Class enrolled in P. M. H. S. We came forming a group of about fifty students, a carefree, cheerful, joyful group, entering upon a new adventure. To us, high school was a mere vision; now it is almost a memory.

Our Freshman year was a happy one. Everything was new. This resulted in hard, earnest work. We had a big class meeting and elected our first school officers.

As Sophomores, we bent our attention to taking care of the Freshmen. At last we had the privilege of pinching the "Rats." One or two of our classmates left us to start in married life.

In 1929 we returned as happy, carefree Juniors. We had several new members to come into our class from Glasgow, Mountain View, Natural Bridge, and other country places. In this Junior year we had to tackle many hard problems. Our Junior-Senior Banquet was the finest that had ever been held.

This year, our biggest and final year, has been a happy one so far. Can it be possible that we are Seniors?

High school life consists of three phases: intellectual, social, and athletic. Volney McClure and Rodney Conner are the orators of our class, while the whole class are the social leaders of the high school. Our best known athletes are: Tom Dickinson, John Dickinson, Jr., Byron Spangler, Christian Merritt, Volney McClure, Roy Greene, Rodney Conner, John Henry Lanum.

After this year we will all start on different roads in life. We will no doubt try our hand at every kind of profession.

—BESSIE GRAYBILL.

Junior Class History

GOOD EVENING, Ladies and Gentlemen. You are listening to station J-U-N-I-O-R, broadcasting from P. M. H. S. Our program this evening will be a short history of the Junior class.

On September 4, 1930, thirty-four happy girls and boys entered the Junior class. The first thing we found out was that Miss Knight, now Mrs. Glass, was our home room teacher.

The first thing we did was to elect the following officers: Earl Leech, president; Frances Whitesell, vice-president; and Ellen Fix, secretary and treasurer.

By this time the football season was in full sway. We gave valuable assistance in Thomas Janney, Glenn Eggleston, and Robert Anthony. Joe Parrent was elected manager of the team, while Robert Anthony was elected captain of next year's team.

On December 5th, we gave a big party, at which all had a grand time.

February; Exams over, majority well on way to work for final units which will make them Seniors. This was an especially interesting month, because the man came to take the order for our rings. Everybody was elated.

“Salt Water Taffy,” the Junior play, was a big success. We are also planning a moonlight picnic in the spring.

We are looking forward to being S-E-N-I-O-R-S in 1931-1932, and until then, Station J-U-N-I-O-R, signing off.

—ELLEN FIX.

Graduation Week

AND now comes the week toward which we have looked for four years. Gone are books, studies, and all the cares and trials of high school. We have left only the pleasant memories of good times and the formation of lifelong friendships. The rest is forgotten.

We begin this week on Sunday, May 24th, when Reverend A. C. Hopkins, formerly of this city, but now located at Charlotte Court House, preaches our Commencement Sermon. And how we enjoy listening to him once again.

Then on Thursday, for the last time we appear in public as a group, in celebration of our Class Night. Here we, as a class, display the fruits of our four years' experience together.

On Friday, May 29th, we receive, with a heartfelt sigh and the knowledge of work well done, our coveted diplomas from the hands of Mr. Miller.

And now ends the most important part of our career, but the most joyous part is to come on Monday night, when we dine and dance at Natural Bridge. Behold, we are alumni, and we celebrate it.

Football Squad-1930

Coach ..... MR. KLING

Captain ..... TOM DICKINSON

Manager ..... JOE PARRENT

Aside from losing eleven letter men through graduation, the 1930 squad was faced with the loss of most of its reserve strength through ineligibility due to poor scholastic work. At no time were more than fifteen men eligible to play.

In spite of these difficulties a fairly successful team was developed, using Spangler, Greene, and Captain Tom Dickinson as a nucleus around which to build.

The prospects for next year are much brighter, as most of this year's ineligibles have removed their deficiencies. Bob Anthony is captain for next year.

As this annual goes to press, the prospects for baseball are bright. With Lanum, John and Tom Dickinson, Merritt, McClure, Moore, and Wood from last year's squad, and several new prospects, this year's team should be supplied with more reserve strength than last year's.

Jokes

Key was standing in front of his car giving Hickie instructions, when a shot rang out and Hickie was struck in the leg.

"Great Scott," ejaculated Key, "that was a narrow escape. It might have punctured a tire."

Mrs. Gibson: "Why were you kissing my daughter in the dark last night?"

Brother Ridings: "Now that I've seen her in the daylight, I sort of wonder myself."

Boss: "Come, come, my boy, you mustn't smoke at your work."

"Speed": "Who's working?"

Danny and his father were watching Mrs. Miller have her hair marcelled, when Danny reached up and touched his father's bald pate, saying with a smile. "No waves for you, Daddy, you're all beach."

Matt Beard: "Say, there, you can't stop here."

Hickie: "I can't, eh? Say, Mr. Beard, you don't know this car."

Voice on the Telephone: "Billy will not be able to come to school this afternoon; he has a cold."

Mr. Miller: "Very well, sir. Who is this speaking?"

Voice: "My father, sir."

Head Seay (to Tom Dickinson, during the Staunton game): "Shay, was that touchdown made during the first or second quart?"

Frank C.: "Do you know the secret of popularity?"

Anna Lee: "Yes, but Mother says I mustn't."

Miss Guill: "If a number of cattle is called a head, and a number of sheep is called a flock, what would you call a flock of camels?"

Milton Thurston: "A carton."

Adrain Whiteside (at Salvation Army Headquarters): "Do you save young girls?"

Salvation Nell (kindly): "Why, yes."

Adrain: "Well, save me a couple of redheads for tonight, will you?"

Visitor: "What sort of man are you going to be when you leave school?"

Russell Beard: "An old one, lady."

Mr. Gilbert: "Son, I'm spanking you because I love you."

Woody: "Dad, I wish I were big enough to return your love."

Billy Taylor: "Dad, you're a lucky man."

Mr. Taylor: "How's that, son?"

Billy: "You won't have to buy me any school books next year. I'm taking all my last year's work over again."
